News from the Trustees

Beyond the monthly routine maintenance, * wind storms continue to wreak havoc with the caps of our parking lot lights, creating new innovative ways of securing them... * Jerry Weaver again mowed the part of our property the lawn service does not do. * Jeff Gordinier (pictured) repaired what became a tripping hazard between the kitchen and Armstrong Hall. * After several different attempts to repair the women's toilets which were not always shutting off properly has been cured by having their guts replaced.

* A ceiling leak in the kitchen was traced back to an upper window which is now repaired. Nearby vents were also shored up from leaking. * a water treatment company examined the parsonage water and system and determined that it was overdue for replacement. In the Sep meeting, they selected among the options and the work will be done soon... * There was an accident while re-setting the sanctuary clock (its cover broke). Initially, an atomic (self-setting and self-correcting) clock was donated, but it could not accurately find the signal. So we settled for the clock that is pictured. * There are future plans and repairs that are in the works to keep our church as safe and functioning and welcoming as possible... These are just a handful of the good things being done by our Trustees Jerry Weaver, Randy Bell, Jeff Gordinier, Mike Sharlow, and Jim Cleveland.

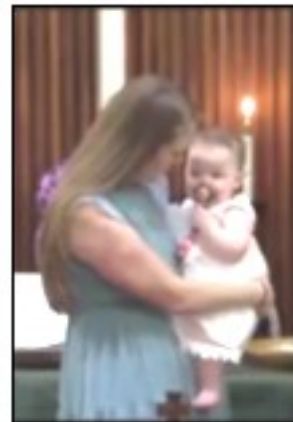

Worship in Pictures

The worship series, "Prepare" (for Christian growth) began Aug 6th and will continue through World Communion on October 1.
